MEIKO MARIS FIX

Repair with confidence – genuine parts for reliable operation.

Our goal

We help get your warewashing systems back to full capacity as quickly as possible, providing a solid foundation for your F&B revenue. Our international service network and the global availability of MEIKO spare parts create a highly flexible supply chain – so you can count on our support even under challenging conditions. Thanks to the modular design of our systems they are easy to repair, and we can swap out specific critical components without needing to replace the entire machine. That helps make your planning more predictable and offers an effective means of cost control.

How it works and what's included

- 1. Initial analysis: We assess the situation using photos, error codes and input from your crew.
- 2. Preparing spare parts: Using this data, we assemble a suitable repair kit containing the necessary genuine parts.
- 3. Onboard repair: The technician inspects components on site, replaces defective parts and calibrates settings.
- 4. Final testing: A comprehensive test run confirms performance and temperature levels, ensuring full compliance with international standards.
- 5. Documentation & prevention: The entire repair process is documented, including recommendations to prevent similar issues in the future.
